

Career opportunities, paths and competitive salaries

- Estimated 205,000 jobs to open up for operations managers
- Ranked number 8 in best business jobs
- Top 20 best paying jobs
- Salaries:
  - Median salary of $100,410,
  - Best paid 25% make $156,580
  - Top 10% of earners earn $187,199 or more
  - Supply Chain Director $143,160,
  - Corporate/Division Manager $165,000,
  - Vice President/General Manager $190,265,
  - Supply Chain Director/Manager $143,160,
  - Corporate/Division Manager $165,000
  - Chief Supply Chain Officer $246,000

Resources:
Potential earnings, Logistics Management Annual Salary Survey, February 2019

Interested in GSCM Graduate Certificate?

Contact: Dr. Nermine Atteya at natteya@madonna.edu
schoolofbusiness@madonna.edu

Graduate Certificate in Operations and Global Supply Chain Management

Would you like to lead and contribute to technological innovation and transformational change?

Choose a career in Supply Chain!

Supply Chain Industry Facts:

- $1.3 trillion industry (7.5% of GDP)
- Contains 37% of all jobs
- Employs 44 million people
- Represents the industries that sell to businesses and the government (B2B)
- Source of many high-paying jobs
- Accounts for innovative activity in the economy
- Offers 5 times jobs for STEM majors
- Encompasses patenting
- Has downstream linkages to multiple industries to diffuse innovation across US economy
- Improves bottom-line profitability through streamlining activities
- Creates a competitive advantage

Resources:
<https://hbr.org/2018/03/the-supply-chain-economy-and-the-future-of-good-jobs-in-america>
<https://www.ascm.org/salary-survey>
Potential earnings, Logistics Management Annual Salary Survey, February 2019

Program Description

Provides professionals and managers with an understanding of operations and global supply chain management key concepts and practices in local and global markets.

Managers learn how to master the tools and techniques to integrate and coordinate the full range of global supply chain functions and how to optimize local and global operations cost while managing local and global operations efficiently.

Managers develop analytical skills, problem solving, efficient and strategic decision making, quantitative & IT skills to evaluate organizational operational strategies and financial performance and to help managers make informed decisions.

Plan of Study

Operations and Global Supply Chain Management Graduate Certificate is comprised of 9 credit hours:

SCM 6220 Operations and Supply Chain Management
SCM 6500 Building Integrated Supply Chains
SCM 6300 Global Supply Chain

Apply today at madonna.edu/apply